Staging is a sophisticated marketing technique used by top realtors and their clients and is an essential part of preparing your home to get the best price possible and to sell in the least time possible. Staging includes such things as de-cluttering, detail cleaning, making functional repairs, painting, etc, but the real magic of staging is much more than that. A professional stager can take your home to a whole new level of appeal by skillfully arranging your furnishings, artwork and accessories to give it a model home feel.

At Key Home Team we employ a team of professional stagers who will give you expert advice on how to set your home above the competition. We also offer hands on staging services using what you already have (in most cases) to show your home in the best possible light.
